2022 brings the Year of the Tiger. Are we in for a passionate, tumultuous year?

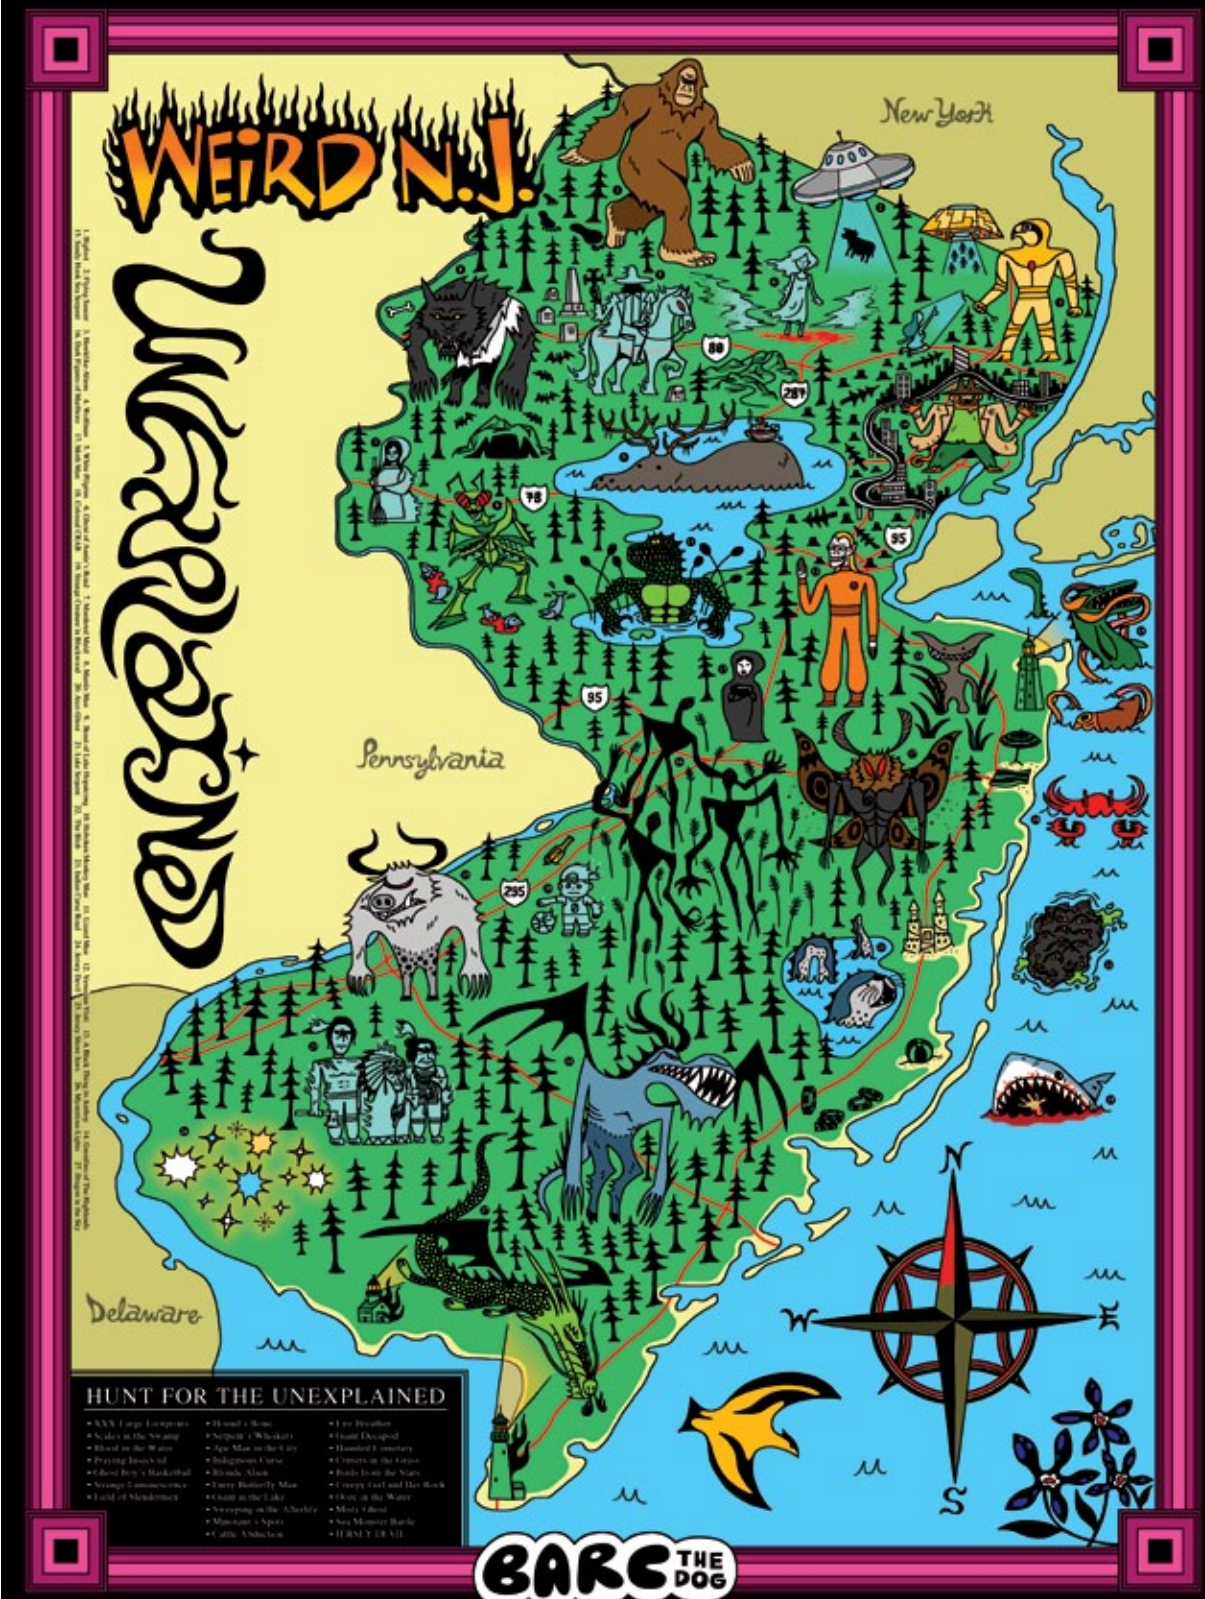

The water tiger — the animal being ushered in with this Lunar New Year — is less aggressive and more open-minded than the typical tiger, according to Chinese astrology. (Alex Lansang, "BARC the dog" / For The Times)

Los Angeles Times

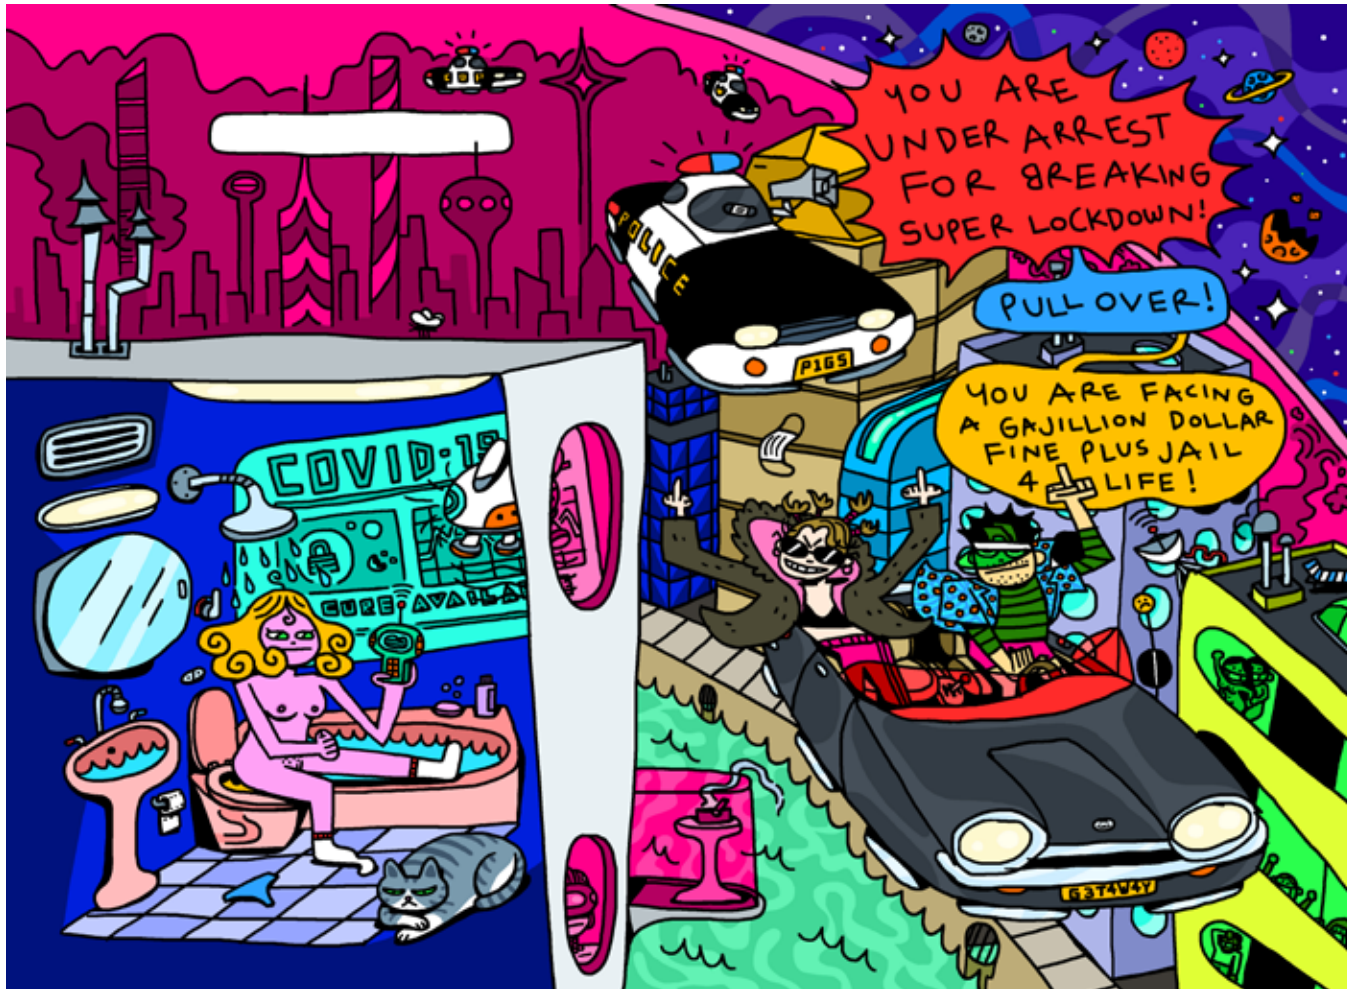

According to superstition, animals across from each other on the Chinese zodiac wheel tend to have conflict. There are also triangles of affinity (shown here by the color-coordinated outlines around the animals that are four years apart) that tell you which animals are your friends. (Alex Lansang, "BARC the dog")
